Erhard Weigel (1650)

Otto Mencke (1665)

Gottfried Leibniz (1666)

Johann Wichmannshausen (1685)

Jacob Bernoulli (1684)

Christian Hausen (1713)

Johann Bernoulli (1694)

Abraham Kästner (1739)

Leonhard Euler (1726)

Johann Pfaff (1786)

Joseph Lagrange

Carl Gauss (1799)

Simeon Poisson, Jean-Baptiste Fourier

Karl von Langsdorf (1781)

Christian Gerling (1812)

Gustav Dirichlet (1827)

Martin Ohm (1811)

Julius Plücker (1823)

Rudolf Lipschitz (1853)

Joseph von Littrow

C. Felix Klein (1868)

Nikolai Brashman (1834)

C. L. Ferdinand Lindemann (1873)

Pafnuty Chebyshev (1849)

David Hilbert (1885)

Andrei Markov (1884)

Richard Courant (1910)

Jacob Tamarkin (1917)

Willi Feller (1926)

George Forsythe (1941)

Michael Malcolm (1973)

David Cheriton (1978)

Zygmunt Haas (1988)

Ben Liang (2001)

To put this graph in proper context, among the approx 130,000 entries in the NDSU database, for example, more than 55,000 are descendants of Euler, more than 45,000 are descendants of Gauss, and more than 5,000 are descendants of Markov.